1948 TROJAN

Administration

DEDICATION

Mrs. Estelle Lane Shade

In sincere appreciation and gratitude for thirty years of loyal service to the alumni and students of Darden High School and to the people of the community, we, the faculty and students of Darden High School, dedicate this first edition of "The Trojan" to Mrs. Estelle Lane Shade.

Her years of service testify to the untiring devotion, energetic work and benevolent spirit she has exemplified to the many students who have passed through these halls.

May her spirit of helpfulness, ideals of culture, and standards of intelligence serve as a torch to light the paths and guide the hearts of all she has taught.

FROM OUR PRINCIPAL

Professor E. M. Barnes

Realizing that even civilization itself has been built only upon trial and error, we are conscious that this, our first attempt to publish a school annual, contains many mistakes that experience alone would avoid. We wish to commend the staff of THE TROJAN for its very fine beginning. We hope that future staffs will get an inspiration to carry on in our attempt to preserve in documentary form the experiences we have while students of Darden High School.

CLASS HISTORY

In the midst of World War II, the present senior class entered high school as freshmen. We were divided into two sections under the supervision of Miss C. M. Washington and Mr. C. W. Hines with Doris Smith and Mary Owens as president of the respective divisions. The most important event of the year was the first Annual Dramatic Tournament in which Miss Washington's class won first place. Doris Simms, star of the cast, won the honor of outstanding actress in the tournament.

The fall of 1945 found the successful freshmen entering the sophomore class under the supervision of Miss J. R. Taylor (now Mrs. J. T. Thompson) and Mrs. E. D. Foster. James Nicholson and Blanche Cooper were presidents of the respective divisions. That year the members of our class were outstanding in various fields. Dazzerine Williams, Hilda Winstead, Olivia Weaver, Beatrice McNeil and Helen Woodard made the varsity basketball team; Wade Lassiter won the band prize for his outstanding achievement; Mary Frances Diggs took the honors for biology.

Returning War Veterans increased our class for the junior year, during which time Mrs. R. L. Williams was sponsor and Douglas Parks, president. The real joy of being a junior came in preparing for and attending the Junior-Senior Prom. Keeping up its versatility, the class had representatives in outstanding activities: the band included James Nicholson, Doris Smith, James George, Willie Jones, James Spivey, Wade Lassiter, Charles Hines, Jesse Henderson, and Mary Frances Diggs, with Helen Woodard as leading majorette. Doris Smith excelled in American History. Doris Simms, Charles Plater and Richard Barnes had leading role in the play, "Lithuania," that represented the school in the State tournament at Raleigh, N. C.

This, our senior year, has been the best of all. Our adviser is Mrs. M. H. Miller and our president, Richard Barnes. Mary Frances Diggs was chosen one of the outstanding senior for the year because of having won the following honors: a Saving Bond in the County Essay Contest on Safety, a medal in the "Quiz Kids of America Contest" and participation in the local Pepsi-Cola Scholarship Contest, through which she became eligible for the State finals. James George and Richard Barnes represented our school in the Eastern Carolina Omega Fraternity Musical Talent Hunt in which the latter received honorable mention. Richard Barnes was also a prize winner in the Quiz Kids contest. The senior girls won the trophy in the first Annual Intramural Basketball Tournament.

Now we leave Darden High School with fond and happy memories knowing that: "WE BUILD THE LADDER BY WHICH WE CLIMB."

Doris Smith, Historian

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

With our hearts full of sorrow, we, the seniors of the 1948 graduating class of the Charles H. Darden High School, regretfully admit that the time has come for us to bid our farewill to the alma mater we love so dearly. We shall never forget the things that were taught us during the happiest four years of our lives. Before departing, we wish to leave with you one remembrance — our Last Will And Testament.

To our teachers we wish to leave our everlasting gratitude for being such good advisers and bringing us through thick and thin; and to Mr. Barnes, our principal, for being the grandest leader for which we could hope. To our fine school we leave our memories and pray that we'll not be forgotten too soon.

Doris Barnes leaves her ability to act to Beatrice Thompson, who, in the future, wishes to be an actress.

James Barnes leaves his singing ability to Marvin Weaver.

Richard Barnes leaves his singing ability to William Carter.

Ann Doris Battle leaves her sewing ability to Delores Anderson.

Fred Blue bequeaths his ability to tell funny jokes to Charles Roberts.

To Fred Woods, Harold Cannady bequeaths his excess amount of pounds.

To Levolyre Farmer, Pauline Coley leaves her ability to capture the man she wants without accepting substitutes.

Ed Dawson leaves his basketball uniform to Roosevelt Wright.

Mary Frances Diggs leaves her big beautiful eyes to Delores Weaver.

Elizabeth Edwards leaves her ability to change men according to the occasion to Lillie Hammonds, who seems to be using it already.

To Barbara Walker, Ruth Ellis wills her ability to get the minimum amount of chemistry which is nine months and not eighteen months.

Ralph Gay leaves his football uniform to James Dew, wondering if he will ever use it.

To Ivory Robinson, James George leaves his ability to think for himself.

Jean Gilchrist gladly leaves to Esther Williams the ability to mind her own business.

To Edgar Diggs, Edward Harris leaves his skill in brick masonry.

Jesse Henderson leaves his physique to Floyd Davis.

To Fred Barnes, Charles Hines bequeaths his ability to be an all around guy.

Henrietta Hines anxiously wills her quietness to "Booky Ann".

To Rosa Roundtree is given the desire to be seen and heard from Grace Hodges.

"Gate" Darden receives the ability to chew gum without showing his tonsils from Willie Jones, who uses it constantly.

Agnes Hoskins leaves her calmness to Marie Everette.

Merllene Hussey bequeaths her singing ability to Brownie Moore.

To Elsie Simms goes the ability to keep one and only one man from Mary Knight.

"Boot" Hunter receives Wade Lassiter's ability to blow the trombone.

To Lee Williams, Nathaniel Mewborn wills his seat in the Senior Class.

To Earl Zachery, Wimp Morgan bequeaths his skill in baseball.

Lenora McCoy wills her seat in the Senior Class to Elroy Jones.

Beatrice McNeil bequeaths her ability to play basketball to Dardress Coley.

James Nicholson leaves his said-to-be-"Robert Mitchum's"-ways to Joe Jones.

Ozie Lee Pender bequeaths her bangs to Esther Williams.

Charles Plater leaves his coolness to Joe Holliday, hoping that it won't freeze up on Joe as it did on him.

Leotis Reid wills his neat nose to Charles Roberts.

Doris Smith bequeaths Billy Dew to Sylvia Carter.

To Margaret Reid, Christine Snow wills her ability to keep a secret.

James Spivey bequeaths his love for the little bobby soxers such as Edna Earl Powell to Charles Howell.

Annie Miller Stokes wills her shapely legs to Minnie Ellis.

Dazzerine Williams leaves, but she takes her walk.

William Williams leaves his swiftness to Jasper Hoskins.

Trumiller Wimberley leaves her waist line to Louise Parker.

Hilda Winstead leaves her skill at guard on the basketball team to Lillian "Snooky" Phillips.

Commillus Woodard wills his seat in the Senior Class to Earl Bridgers, wondering if he'll ever use it.

Helen Woodard wills her majorette suit to Ellaworth Kirby.

In witness whereof, we, the graduating class of 1948 do hereunto set our hand and seal this, the thirty-first day of May, nineteen hundred and forty-eight.

Signed: Charles Hines, Winford Morgan, Testators

We the members of the Student Council under the leadership of our advisor, Mr. Dixon, and our President, Charles Plater, have worked toward a prosperous and successful school year. The aims of the Student Council are to establish a sense of responsibility, insure better self-government and citizenship, and to promote the general welfare of the students.

Two of the most important projects of the Student Council of this year are: to establish a treasure system to benefit all students, and the aiding with plans for a Fields Day.

The Student Council shall be a standing committee to act as an official representation of the Student Body. It is the duty of the Student Council to decide upon all questions, vital to the Student Body, as long as these questions do not conflict with the general school policies.
